

Vrbo

https://www.oleantimesherald.com/news/cuba-village-dissolution-defeated/article\_b8f015ba-cc0b-11df-abfe-001cc4c03286.html

Cuba village dissolution defeated

By Doug Roorbach Olean Times Herald
Sep 29, 2010

Tom Taylor, mayor of the village of Cuba, reacts to news that the vote for dissolution of the village has been defeated.
Photo by Doug Roorbach/Olean Times Herald

CUBA — Voters from the village of Cuba overwhelmingly rejected a referendum to dissolve the village, 402-43.

"We followed the state law and today the voters have spoken," said Tom Taylor, mayor, after the outcome was announced at the village hall Tuesday night. "We have a belief we're going to keep it."

vrbo

Turnout was strong with 461 ballots cast out of 828 registered voters, according to Carolyn Graves and Cheryl Sharp, the election officials at the polls.

* For complete stories, subscribe to the Olean Times Herald E-Edition. Please note that the e-Edition is separate from this partial listing. You have to log in under HOME and E-EDITION at the top of the web page. The e-Edition is in a PDF format.